this day special dinner was given to all the N.S.S. volunteers as an appreciation work by the villagers.

On 29th December after the completion of Bandh construction all the volunteers were happy for the given task completed but also there was little bit nervousness on every volunteers face. This was because during these seven days all the volunteers were came close to each other and feeling as if there family. There was only one thought in volunteers mind that there should not be end of this camp, but it is the fact that time never stops for anybody.

And because by doing work all volunteers were exhausted and to make all the volunteers happy and for their enjoyment there was a small party organized for the volunteers for celebration of the completion of Bandh construction work. For the success of every camp it is generate following among youth.

- ◆ There must be unity among all the youths.
- ◆ Every youth must be aware about this duties towards society.
- ◆ Every youth must be given inspiration to do something for the welfare of the society.

At the morning of 30th December all the volunteers were instructed to pack their luggage everybody was busy in packing work with no words on their lips but the eyes full of tears. In the afternoon we had light food and caught train from Vangani station at 1.00pm and reached 4.30pm. this camp created awareness among all this participants about their responsibilities towards society.
